

CWA is delighted to announce a new partnership with Reece's Rainbow, an International Down Syndrome Orphan Ministry, to be a 'Voice of Hope' for children with Down syndrome and other special needs. With the help of adoption grants and advocacy Reece's Rainbow has placed over 500 orphans with loving families, and CWA hopes to help increase that number.

Currently, this partnership means CWA will be able to place special needs children from Russia and Bulgaria, and we have word that Kazakhstan will be available soon. Also, in the near future we expect to be able to offer adoptions from Latvia, Lithuania, Moldova, Estonia, and Croatia through our Reece's Rainbow partnership.

Any family that might be interested in more information on this new opportunity is encouraged to call or email CWA, and we will be glad to put your name on our interested family list. As soon as details are available we will share with you and keep you informed. This is an amazing opportunity for CWA and a ministry we enter into with prayer and expectancy.

Most every country has adoption of children with special needs. However, by partnering with RR we are able to facilitate these special needs adoptions at a greatly reduced cost to the adopting families. Some children even have special grants attached to their adoptions.

The RR web site has a wonderful photo listing of available children by country. Won't you please take a moment to look at those precious faces? You can see the children, read about the country programs, and prayerfully consider if this is the right path for your family. There is excellent information there regarding how to begin the process, parental requirements, approximate total costs, and issues to consider in deciding if special needs adoption is right for you. After reading all the helpful information and prayerfully considering this, you might just find that your child is waiting on the RR web site.

If you have questions or want your name added to our interested family list, please let us hear from you at caroln@cwa.org or 828-693-7007 x324.

May God bless you and guide you.
